

Dear Visitors,

I am delighted to extend my warmest greetings and heartfelt welcome to you as we unveil the brand new website of the National Medical Library (NML). In this digital age, where information is at our fingertips and connectivity knows no bounds, the NML is committed to provide a seamless and enriched online and off line experience to all those seeking medical knowledge and resources.

Our new website is a testament to our dedication to serving the medical community, researchers, students and other information seeker alike. It has been meticulously designed to offer easy access to a wealth of medical information, research resources, and cutting-edge advancements in the field of healthcare. Whether you are a medical professional, a student or someone curious about health matters, we aspire to be your trusted source for credible and up-to-date medical information.

Key Feature of the NML Website

NML OPAC

The data of the NML resources has been fed in e-Granthalaya software developed by National Informatics Centre (NIC). The link of the same has been provided in the website. Information seeker may click it and search their desired information. The members, who are availing loan facility of the NML, may also check the details of overdue books etc. sitting at their own homes or anywhere else remotely.

ERMED Consortium

The link of ERMED Consortium has also been provided at the website. It allows you to search about the metadata of your queries about the online Journals accessible under ERMED Consortium. It also include McGraw Hill Database developed by McGraw Hill which has a good collection of more than 160 e-books, 2,000 clinical cases, audios, videos, multimedia resources, patient education guides, and audio podcasts et.

Remote Access

The NML is also providing Remote Access facility to its members in Delhi and National Capital Region. The information about availing this facility may be checked at the website too.

As we launch this new website, I request you to explore the new National Medical Library Website, utilize its resources and provide us your valuable feedback. Your insights will be invaluable in our ongoing efforts to enhance the website's functionality and content.

Thank you for your unwavering support, and I look forward to the exciting possibilities that this new digital chapters holds for the National Medical Library and all those who benefit from its resources
